Sixty Years of Supporting Exceptional Children

This month celebrates our 60th anniversary operating as Spaulding Youth Center in Northfield, NH. As part of the modern evolution of our nearly 150-year history, we are enjoying reflecting on all that our organization has accomplished since the merger of our originating entities, the Daniel Webster Home and Golden Rule Farm, which created today's organization.

Oktoberfest Kids Race circa 1977

With the merge of these two organizations in 1958, Spaulding Youth Center carried on a renewed purpose to provide care and treatment to youth with emotional and behavior problems. Over the years, our staff and supporters have worked diligently to fulfill that purpose with compassion, dignity and professionalism. Together, we have achieved significant milestones that establish Spaulding Youth Center as a truly unique and innovative organization.

- In the 1970s, Spaulding adopted behavior management as the primary treatment protocol for children with emotional problems.
- In 1998, the Cutter-Wiggins Trauma Unit opened as the newest campus residence.
- In 2004, the organization became a Child Placing Agency for ISO foster care, expanding services to those in need of a safe place to call home.
- In 2010 and 2015, Spaulding received a coveted five-year approval rating for its year-round, comprehensive education services.
- In 2012, Spaulding proudly opened a brand-new, state-of-the-art school to meet an ever-increasing demand for our programs and services.
- In 2017, Spaulding Youth Center and Spaulding Youth Center Foundation merged to eliminate the need to support two 501(c)(3) nonprofits and reduce unnecessary administrative costs.

For the last 60 years as Spaulding Youth Center and almost 150 years since our true history began, Spaulding has provided an intensely therapeutic environment to help children in need heal and grow. Supporting exceptional children and families toward a successful future is a cornerstone to our every day operations. We look forward to continuing this tradition of success for many more years into the future.

Opportunities for Life

Because every child deserves a childhood, we weave opportunities to experience traditional childhood activities and develop cherished memories into everyday campus life. Since many of our residential students are still developing social and interaction skills, we offer a variety of opportunities for these kids to practice their emerging skills. The on-campus and off-campus opportunities are a significant contribution to their overall healing and personal development.

After school activities provide a convenient way for our kids to unwind after the school day, interact with their friends and learn a new skill, all within the familiar campus setting. These activities rotate periodically and can include anything from soccer to yoga, tie dying to nature crafts, and hiking to learning new games.

Residential students are also encouraged to attend excursions to off-campus venues, such as art and science museums, car shows, festivals, local ballparks, playgrounds and restaurants. Many of these children also participate in Special Olympics throughout the year in a variety of sports. These off-campus activities provide our children the opportunity to practice social and life skills in an unfamiliar environment as well as experience quintessential childhood activities.

For our older children, these off-campus experiences include vocational opportunities. Vocational programs teach our adolescents leadership skills and build self-esteem, ultimately helping these children gain confidence and self-awareness. Several of our residential children recently began a horsemanship program through which they learn about caring for livestock and equipment, riding and training horses, and fulfilling vocational expectations.

Our goal is to provide our residential children with as many positive experiences as possible, both on campus and in their community. Each positive experience becomes a cherished memory, a personal triumph, and another step towards a successful future.
